Lubitz, Wolfgang. Trotsky bibliography: a classified list of published items about Leon Trotsky and Trotskyism. 2nd, totally rev. and expanded ed. K.G. Saur, 1988. 581p indexes
ISBN 3-598-10754-4, $120.00

The second edition is a comprehensive, classified bibliography of secondary literature about Trotsky and Trotskyism. Its 5,009 unannotated entries greatly expand the coverage of the first edition (3,160 entries, 1982). Lubitz's bibliography goes hand in hand with Louis Sinclair's bibliography of Trotsky's own writings (Leon Trotsky, 1972; suppl. 1977, 1980). Lubitz covers an impressive range of materials, including monographs, articles from journals and collections, symposia, masters' theses and doctoral dissertations, published speeches, book reviews, review articles, and introductions and prefaces to Trotsky's works. A Trotsky specialist on the staff of the National Library in West Berlin, Lubitz examined more than 75% of the items himself. The bibliography is organized into eight topical sections, including generalities and bibliographies, biographical material, Trotsky's political thought, Trotsky's literary and cultural thought, Trotsky and Trotskyism and factional struggles within the Soviet Union, and the international Trotskyist movement. Each section is further subdivided into specific areas. The majority of the citations are in English, Russian, German, or French. A useful introduction explains the classification scheme; there are several indexes: authors, titles of collective works, titles of anonymously published works, sources, dissertations. Two appendixes list items filed after the editorial closing date and forthcoming and unpublished works. Highly recommended for academic and research libraries.—S. C. Summer, Columbia University
